

Artroom News

October, 2017

Keith Haring art from last spring 2017

Where did the month of September go?!

After a lot of work, the students are finished with their sketchbooks!

Each student designed, built and assembled their own sketchbook from scratch.

They will be using these books to take notes, write down their thoughts, complete "sketch of the week" assignments, and grow as young artist.

It is my hope these will be full of fantastic drawings for you all to enjoy by the end of the school year!

What are we learning?

Both grade levels have started cursive handwriting that will continue on throughout the school year.

Through our Eastern European Unit, we have been discovering famous Russian artists and architecture.

The third graders have been discussing the life of Wassily Kandinsky and the condition he had known as Synesthesia.

This condition enabled him to "see sound" and "hear color"

There has been much debate on what that would be like and how it would effect his artwork.

KITCHENTABLECLASSROOM.COM

pwoehl@gcswave.com

937-548-3185