Here are a couple items for announcements related to spirit week for Homecoming:

Students...This week is spirit week for the Homecoming week being presented by your student leaders. We love participation in showing spirit. A couple of ground rules for items that we tend to see. First, students always ask about hats, head coverings and face paint. Here is the information that we will work by.

Hats and head coverings: Students may wear hats as long as it fits with the theme. So, just wearing a hat to wear a hat would not work, but wearing a Stetson on Toy Story day (Western wear) would obviously work. A monsters Inc head apparel for Monday's theme would work. Green wave hat on Green and White day will work. I think you can get the idea here and remember this is for Homecoming week only.

Face painting: Students may use some face paint within moderation on dress up days. I would think this would only fit for Green and White and Spirit color days. Now, that being said, I did say in moderation. So, students will not color their entire face or body parts. You will not wear any paint that will make a mess on the furniture or throughout the building. We do not want it applied in our classrooms and bathrooms as this just makes messes for the custodians to clean up. Please apply it at home and leave the containers at home if you are wearing it.

Thank you!
