Notes from Mrs. Rieman

It's been another great week! Here are some things to know for next week:

- We will be MAP testing on Tuesday and Thursday of next week. Help your child do their best by getting a good night's sleep and eating a good breakfast.
- Math homework books were sent home today. The book is kept at home all year, and the weekly pages should be torn out and turned in on Friday. See the homework box below for the pages your child needs to complete. These are due on FRIDAY. They will earn Dojo points!

Have a great weekend!

Mrs. Rieman 😊

What We've Been Learning:

Reading: We have been books about classroom rules, how to be respectful, and treating ourselves and others with respect.

Spelling: We have taken several assessments to see how many sounds and words the students remembered from last year. We will be reviewing 1st grade concepts for a couple of weeks and then get into 2nd grade words.

Writing: We are starting to write personal narratives.

Math: We started the year with reviewing 2-digit place value. This week we started 3-digit place value. See the homework box below for pages to complete to practice these skills at home.

Social Studies: This week we learned about Patriot Day. We remembered the heroes of September 11 and read stories about that day.
